ARMY OFFICERS INSPECT GROUND

Major Schofield and Captain Wells Arrive on Morning Train and Make Preliminary Visit Prior to Arrival of General Wotherspoon.

Major R. McA. Schofield and Captain B. M. Wells arrived in Gettysburg this morning on the 10.10 train over the Western Maryland to make preliminary views of the camp site for the maneuver camp prior to the arrival of Brigadier General W. W. Wotherspoon this afternoon.

The army officers were taken over the ground in the automobile of Clarence Redding by a committee of members of the Retail Merchants' Association consisting of E. P. Miller, R. C. Miller, John A. Cox and William F. Codori.

Sites east and west of town were viewed and the officers expressed themselves as pleased with both places, both offering advantages. It is the intention to have the farms, to be used for the camp site proper, released at once so that preparations may be made now to get the ground in shape for the establishment of the camp in July.

The date set for the opening of the camp is July 1. It is possible that this may be changed, however, as farmers are very reluctant about releasing their land for the maneuvers that early, claiming that their crops will not be off by that time. It is hoped that the matter can be adjusted satisfactorily to all parties concerned.

Details of this afternoon's work will appear in tomorrow's Times.

RECEIVED THREATS OF DEATH

Two letters were received recently by Frank Meads, a cigar manufacturer of Red Lion, well known here, threatening his life, and causing the family much worry and, it is believed, hastened the death of an eighteen year old son.

Several weeks ago Mr. Meads received a letter that was mailed at Red Lion, containing the following:

"Mr. Frank Meads, 'Dear Sir—You must die. You will meet death unexpected at your door. The time is set, so prepare yourself.'"

No signature was attached to the letter. A similar communication was received by Mr. Meads several days ago, and he has placed both letters in the hands of the postal authorities at Washington. Last week Mr. Meads' son died and, it is said, that his end was hastened by worrying over the threats in the letters sent to his father.

CHARGED WITH STEALING HAY

In Franklin County court one of the cases tried was that of Com. vs. Peter Carbaugh, who was charged with the theft of hay from A. L. Hoppel, Blue Ridge Summit. Witnesses testified that Mr. Carbaugh had been at home all of the night of the alleged theft. Four or five witnesses testified to Carbaugh's good character. O. C. Bowers, Esq., attorney for Carbaugh, declared the case was one of mistaken identity. None of the witnesses said he had seen the thief's face; it was merely supposition that Carbaugh was the man seen. The jury was out one hour and returned with a verdict of not guilty. The costs were placed on the county.

STILL ANOTHER MAD DOG SCARE

Gettysburg Visited by Another Animal which is Voted Mad. Several Other Dogs Attacked. Canine Followed and Killed.

Once again the mad dog cry aroused the people of Gettysburg on Tuesday afternoon when a yellow cur acting in a peculiar manner appeared on Baltimore and York streets and the Square, biting several other dogs and snapping at objects and people. Sufficient excitement was created for the animal to have been mad but whether or not the dog was rabid has not been determined. It was shot a short distance out of town on the Bonneauville Road by John Swisher.

The dog was a small yellow animal and when first seen was on the Square where it jumped at a strap hanging from an automobile. From there it ran up Baltimore street a short distance where it snapped at Judge McClean's coat. A dog was bitten and then the energetic "yellow peril" retraced its tracks and returned to the Square where it attacked the small dog belonging to Jerome Hemler. By this time the mad dog cry had been set up and people generally were alarmed.

Clarence Cumbaugh appeared on the scene with his revolver and had several chances to shoot the dog but was advised to let it alone as it was not rabid. No further damage was done by the canine and it was shot a short distance from town.

It is said the dog was seen on the Fairfield road early in the afternoon and that it bit another dog on High street before appearing on the Square. It is also said that a dog answering the description of this one was seen near Roth's Mill in Butler township on Sunday and acted strangely then.

FELL DEAD

George Kump, of near Cashtown, died suddenly on Monday near the home of Dennis Bishop, aged about 65 years.

Mr. Kump had been in Cashtown purchasing feed at Bream's store. He started home and was apparently in the best of health. When he approached the home of Mr. Bishop he was seen to put his bag on the ground and to sit on a nearby fence. Suddenly he fell over and death followed almost immediately.

Surviving are his wife and several children.

Funeral on Thursday morning.

Mont Alto, April 27—John Degroft, who spent Sunday with his father-in-law, George Kump, at Cashtown, was terribly shocked, Monday, when a telegram came announcing the sudden death of Mr. Kump. Sunday Mr. Kump was in the best of health and made no complaint of not feeling good and Mr. and Mrs. Degroft were greatly surprised at the news received Monday. The physicians pronounced the trouble heart disease.

As rapidly as possible Dr. Surface will arrange to have the demonstrations started in the northern and western sections of the State. Requests by the score are piling up on his desk.

Adams County apple growers are busy spraying their trees for the moth.

Coulson & Brother, who have the contract for the erection of the orphanage at Paradise, near Abbottstown, resumed work Monday on the building, and will soon be ready for the plasterers. They also started to grade the lawn, which when completed, will add greatly to the beauty of the orphanage. A dozen men are at work and it is expected the structure will be completed about the first of next September.

PLANNING FOR CURB MARKET

Market Master and Market Committee of Town Council Near that Some Residents will Try to Frustrate Plans. Ask Co-operation.

Market Master Charles G. Miller and the Market Committee of Council are preparing matters for the letting of spaces and the opening of the curb market in Gettysburg in May. Some opposition has been encountered and those in charge of matters are anxious that several things be called to the attention of local people.

It has been rumored that a number of people of town have signified their intention of not patronizing the market, saying that they would purchase their country produce on the days the market was not in force, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. It is further said that some of the hucksters are planning to visit Gettysburg only on those days to avoid paying the market space fees.

Those in charge of the arrangements for the market urge upon all, both citizens and hucksters, the necessity for co-operation to make the market plan a success. It is believed by them that if the regular market days, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, are observed and all hucksters have their goods there on those days and people purchase at market on those days the plan will be a success from the start.

It is also believed that a week of successful opening will show the mutual advantage to all concerned.

The spaces will be let on May 2 by Market Master Miller as advertised and the first day of market will be Tuesday, May 10. The market hours in the summer months will be from 5.30 to 10.00 a. m. During those hours no peddling on the streets of town will be allowed.

CONSTABLES WANT MORE MONEY

Twenty four constables of Franklin county formed an association Monday and elected officers. The constables told a reporter that they were tired working for nothing and intended to try to get some money to which they are by law entitled. One constable drove to Strasburg on Sunday, hiring a team to do so, and after spending a whole Sunday on the job drove home at night just 20 cents out of pocket for the job. They also say that while under the law they are entitled to a fee of $2.50 for making their quarterly report to court yet they get but $1.50 pay. All of these grievances they hope to get righted by their organization.

NOTICE to delinquent taxpayers of Straban township for the year 1909. All unpaid taxes must be paid to me by May 15th, 1910. If unpaid at that time will be collected by lien, distress or other legal proceedings. D. L. Plank, collector of taxes for Straban township.

MR. FLEMMING FINISHES WORK

First Census Enumerator in Gettysburg to Finish Work is William B. Flemming. Estimates on Population.

Census Enumerator William B. Flemming who had in charge the work in the Second Ward is the first of the local people to finish his work. He completed his task on Tuesday though there are several more days of the time allotted before the work has to be done.

Among the other things which the enumerators are sworn to keep secret is the total of population. No knowledge of what this is will be learned until it is given out from Washington and in the meantime local people can continue speculating on the number of residents in borough. Guesses range from 4000 to 5000.

The estimate of the increase in population from 1900 is based principally on the large number of new houses which have been erected in Gettysburg since that time, practically all of which are occupied. In addition to this it is said that a great many more people live in rented rooms than ten years ago.

All of the census takers in Gettysburg report courteous treatment with few, if any, disagreeable experiences. The people have welcomed them and have cheerfully and quickly given the desired information. The trouble experienced with foreigners in the cities did not confront the local servants of Uncle Sam who are counting noses.

TWO TAVERNS

Two Taverns, April 27—On Friday evening, J. T. Sherman met with a painful accident while drawing saw dust to use in his ice house. In some manner Mr. Sherman's thumb became fast in the pulley wheel, tearing the thumb entirely off at the first joint and tearing the ligament out of the arm, which measured ten inches in length. Dr. S. B. Weaver was hastily summoned. He dressed the injured member and at this writing Mr. Sherman is getting along as well as can be expected.

CAT RAISING RAT

William Kendall, tenant on the Findlay farm, near Hagerstown, has a cat that, besides taking care of five kittens, is raising a rat. She seems as fond of the young rat as she is of her own offspring.

Five weeks ago she gave birth to kittens, and a few days later appeared from the barn carrying in her mouth by the skin of the neck, as cats carry their young, a little rat, the eyes of which were not yet open. She deposited the young rodent with her kittens and it has become a regular member of the family.

CAUGHT CROOK

Charged with stealing $600 from a man named Howes at Frederick, Md., Wellington Hill, colored, was arrested in Hanover upon the arrival of a train by Officer Kiser. Only forty cents was found on him. Officer Kiser took Hill to Littlestown where he delivered his prisoner to Officer Carter, of Frederick, who returned with him to that city. Thompson, another colored man arrested at the same time, but not wanted, was released. The men claimed they were on the way to York in search of work.

HIDDEN FORTUNE IN HIS HOME

DISCOVERED BY ACCIDENT

Valuables Secreted by Dead Woman Found by Her Grandson When He Stumbles Against Secret Spring in Pedestal.

New York, April 27.—Striking by accident a secret spring that held a hollow pedestal in the old-fashioned brownstone house at 543 Madison avenue, where the late Mrs. Theodore Octavia A. Moss, widow of the veteran theatrical manager, had resided many years, Beverly Kator, a young grandson, had thrust upon his astonished gaze jewelry, diamonds and other precious stones worth $100,000, making up one of the most interesting collections ever found in this city.

Mystery attached to the precious collection. Every one who knew Mrs. Moss was aware that she owned magnificent jewels. After her death last January no trace could be found of any part of her rich holdings. Her son, Royal E. Moss, and two grandsons, Beverly and Randall Kator, both of whom lived with their grandmother after the death of their own mother, discussed the strange disappearance of the gems.

Nothing untoward was thought of the fact that they could not be found, for Mrs. Moss was not wont to take anyone into her confidence with respect to her property, or any part of her personal business. She was her own manager, and while her son knew she had been much given to collecting precious stones and jewelry, he also knew that she might readily have sold them without his knowledge.

A few days ago Beverly Kator, who is a student at Columbia university, came home. He started to make a search for the diamonds. As he went through one of the rooms he happened to stumble against a pedestal that supported a work of art. Instantly a secret door in the pedestal flew open. There in the recess was a dazzling array of gems—all the trinkets and jewels that had been famous during the life of his grandmother—who was noted as the possessor of valuable treasures. Enough of the sparkling hoard was revealed to stock a modest jewelry store.

The most valuable piece in the collection, said Mr. Moss, was a diamond necklace which he remembered having heard his mother say cost $10,000.

$500,000 PLOT UNEARTHED

Far Reaching Swindle, With Arson as Part of Scheme.

Providence, R. I., April 27.—A conspiracy, far-reaching in its effects, has just been unearthed. Developments indicate that, through this great swindle, manufacturing jewelers in Rhode Island and other states have been robbed of goods valued at $500,000 at least.

Ten arrests have been made in Alabama and Texas. One of the alleged conspirators was on the Mexican border ready to cross the line when he was captured.

Montgomery, Ala., is said to have been the fountain head of the conspiracy. The scheme was to buy jewelry throughout the country and ship it to Montgomery. After that, the reports say, dummy packages were sent from a Montgomery firm to other stores controlled by it. These were then credited as real shipments of goods and so listed. The stores were then set on fire, it is alleged, and the dummy packages were listed as lost assets by the firm in bankruptcy proceedings.

CENSUS ARRESTS

Three In Custody For Refusing to Answer Questions.

Springfield, Ill., April 27.—Two men and one woman were held to answer in the United States district court for refusal to answer questions of the census enumerators. Warrants were called for after Census Supervisor W. J. Bettler had secured instructions from Washington.

Saved by Wooden Leg.

Pottsville, Pa., April 27.—When Levi H. Minnick, a crossing watchman at this place, was struck by a shifting train and knocked under the wheels a score of people who witnessed the accident expected to look upon his mangled body the next moment. In the fall his wooden leg was wrenched loose and this served to throw him clear of the wheels, although he missed death by barely six inches clearance. He escaped with a few bruises.

Gets $3750 For Husband's Love.

Bridgeport, Conn., April 27.—A judgment of $3750 was given in the superior court to Mrs. Ida Rowley, who sued Mrs. A. Holland Forbes, wife of the aeronaut, for alleged alienation of the affections of her husband, Ernest, a chauffeur for Mrs. Forbes.

The Weather.

Forecast for this section: Showers and cooler today; tomorrow, partly cloudy in southern, showers in northern portion; light to moderate south west to west winds.

Feeding While Milking.

Cows that are trained to be milked without feed seem to give down their milk just as well as others. Some extra nervous cows might do better, though there is doubt if the food would not make them more nervous, specially if it gave out before the milking ended. A little choice feed may act as an incentive to make the cow come up to a desired point where it is more convenient to milk her. This may be better than to hunt the cows up and milk them where found.

MAY NAME 12 CARDINALS

Rumor in Rome That a Consistory May Be Held in June.

Rome, April 27.—It was reported that it was probable that a consistory would be held in the middle of June, when probably twelve Cardinals will be created.

No Likelihood of American Cardinal.

Washington, April 27.—When the news of the probability of holding a consistory at Rome in June reached those high in Catholic circles in Washington there was much speculation as to the likelihood of an American prelate being appointed. The general opinion was that no American would be selected, but that the places would be filled by workers whose activity has been notable in the church at Rome.

New York, April 27.—Directors of the United States Steel corporation declared a quarterly dividend of 1/4 per cent on the common stock, thereby making the rate of 5 per cent per annum. The last quarterly declaration was 1 per cent quarterly and one-fourth per cent extra. The regular 1/4 per cent rate was declared on the preferred.

Reports for the quarter ended March 31 last show net earnings of $37,616,876, against $22,921,268 for the quarter ended March 31, 1909. The surplus on March 31, after paying all charges and dividends, was $5,532,531, against $3,263,674 for the corresponding quarter last year.

Unfilled orders on hand at the end of the quarter were 5,492,514 tons, a decrease of 524,517 tons from the Dec. 31 quarter and an increase of 1,859,911 tons over the March, 1909, quarter.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dread disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. SENATOR BURROWS TO FIGHT

Washington, April 27.—Senator Julius C. Burrows, of Michigan, has no intention of following the example of Senators Aldrich and Hale by retiring from the senate. He has decided to remain a candidate for re-election despite the strong opposition to him. The contest for the seat will be fought out at the Republican primaries.

This decision was reached at a conference of many of the party leaders of Michigan. Mr. Burrows will fight for his seat and Representative Charles E. Townsend also will be a candidate. The one who is victor in the primaries in September will receive the party support in the legislature, each agreeing to abide by the result expressed by the rank and file.

Horsemann, of Laurel, eloped from the Horsemann home, secured an automobile and speeded to Denton, Md., where they were married.

They returned to Laurel later and were taken into custody immediately. Hall was locked up in the town prison, who was soon surrounded by a mob who threatened to do violence to the man. The girl is confined at the residence of Chief of Police Davis.

The parents of the girl say they will prosecute Hall and have already taken action to have the wedding annulled.

MURDERER BREAKS PRISON

Saws Bars of New Jersey Penitentiary and Scales Twenty-Foot Wall.

Trenton, N. J., April 27.—John Aitken, of Union county, serving a sentence of twenty years in the state prison for murder, made a daring dash for liberty and got away.

A saw was smuggled in to Aitken. While he was employed in the fire room he sawed through the bars of a window behind the coal bunkers.

After getting out of the fire room Aitken entered a court yard surrounded by a twenty-foot wall. How he scaled this and got away, with watch towers at frequent intervals and a searchlight playing along the top of the wall, is a mystery. It is believed he must have had a rope ladder and a confederate on the outside.

AIDS WIFE TO WED NEW LOVE

J. M. Barrie Gives Affinities His Country Home

MAY ACT AS BEST MAN

Famous Playwright and Author Also Endows His Divorced Wife For Life.

London, April 27.—The romance of John Ruskin, his wife and Sir John Millais, one of the wonder stories of real life, in which Ruskin gave his wife to Millais, his friend, and still held that friendship dear, has been outdone by James M. Barrie, the author and playwright. Mr. Barrie, with all his fantasy, could not have conceived a more fantastic situation than that in which he figures.

The decree of divorce which he sought from his wife after he had discovered her infatuation for Gilbert Cannon, a young dramatic critic, was made absolute. Barrie had entreated his wife to return to him, offering any terms she might demand, but Mrs. Barrie would not listen to him.

Then he sued and obtained a decree. Even after that he found his great love for his wife as strong as ever, and again made overtures for a reconciliation, holding out the most extravagant inducements; they were rejected.

With an absolute decree of divorce in his possession, the attitude of Barrie toward his wife and the young man who had won her from him, underwent a complete change, and today he appears in the role of a fairy godfather to the couple.

Much to the surprise of his friends, who believed that the final separation from Mrs. Barrie would find him a morose and heartbroken man, he has taken the attitude of generous patron of his wife and young Cannon. He seems to be eagerly seeking the crumbs of happiness which may fall to him by aiding the couple to a speedy wedding and giving them a fair start in life in the hope that he may count them friends and have the privilege of visiting them and enjoying their companionship.

Just after the divorce decree became absolute, Barrie voluntarily turned over to his former wife the deed to a beautiful home at Cranham and settled an income of $750 a year on her for life. He also had made arrangements to facilitate the marriage of Cannon and Mrs. Barrie, and practically will act as the best man at the wedding.

Barrie's suit for divorce was a surprise to all but the intimate friends of the author of so many tender stories and plays, and attracted world-wide attention. Universal sympathy was expressed for Barrie, who really began the divorce proceedings at the earnest solicitation of his wife.

The evidence at the hearings aroused even more sympathy for Barrie. The testimony of witnesses left little doubt no other course than to grant Barrie the divorce. It was shown that Cannon had shamefully abused the hospitality of Barrie. When Barrie learned the facts the shock almost prostrated him.

VETERANS DYING FAST

Senator Scott Says Rate Is One Every Twelve Minutes.

Washington, April 27.—Senator Scott in the senate made a characteristic and effective plea in behalf of a number of old soldiers. On the absence of Senator McCumber, the West Virginia senator has charge of pension legislation. He had just put through one bill increasing the allowance of half a hundred men, when his colleague, Mr. Elkins, moved the consideration of the railroad bill.

"Oh, no," pleaded Mr. Scott, "there is one more pension bill. It affects the interest of only a few, but it ought to be passed. These old fellows are dying at the rate of one every twelve minutes and they have very little time to lose. Much of the legislation that we are pressing here is not nearly so important."

The plea accomplished its purpose.

and they were well given a substantial boost in the way of legislation.

Democrats Win a Victory.

Boston, April 27.—After many years of agitation the advocates of the election of United States senators by popular vote won a victory when a resolution favoring such popular election was substituted for an adverse committee report by a vote of 109 to 93. The resolution had the backing of the Democratic members and about quarter of the Republicans.

Kills Sweetheart and Self.

Reading, Pa., April 27.—Elbert J. Leavitt went to the home of his sweetheart, Miss Nellie Becker, loaded a pistol in her presence and fired three times, resulting in her death. Then he walked coolly back to a rocking-chair and ended his own miserable life by drinking cyanide of potassium. He was crazed by drink and jealousy.

Bursting Meteor Starts Forest Fire.

El Paso, Tex., April 27.—News has been received here from the mountains near the Mormon colonies in Mexico of the falling of a gigantic meteor. It burst and fragments started a forest fire.

Worms in the Colts.

Colts sometimes die from worms without the owner knowing what ails them. After weaning they are very susceptible to this ailment, as are all horses, more or less. A good remedy is powdered tobacco in the feed twice a day. For a colt a good tablespoonful is a dose; for older horses, in proportion. Give two doses and after a few days repeat the dose. Natural leaf is best.

ECZEMA ON HANDS FOR TEN YEARS

Were Raw All Over and the Humor was Spreading to Body and Limbs — Professional Treatment did No Good—Daughter had Eczema, Too.

CUTICURA A SUCCESS IN BOTH THESE CASES

"I had eczema on my hands for ten years. At first it would break out only in winter. Then it finally came to stay. I had three good doctors to do all they could but none of them did any good. I then used one box of Cuticura Ointment and three bottles of Cuticura Resolvent and was completely cured. My hands were raw all over, inside and out, and the eczema was spreading all over my body and limbs. Before I had used one bottle of Cuticura Ointment, together with the Cuticura Resolvent, my sores were nearly healed over, and by the time I had used the third bottle, I was entirely well. I had a good appetite and was fleshier than I ever was. To any one who has any skin or blood disease I would honestly advise them to feel with nothing else, but to get Cuticura and get well. My hands, cured by the use of Cuticura, have never given me the least bit of trouble up to now. I cannot recommend Cuticura highly enough, it has done me and my family so much good. My daughter's hands this summer became perfectly raw with eczema. She could get nothing that would do them any good until she tried Cuticura. She used two bottles of Cuticura Resolvent and one box of Cuticura Ointment and in two weeks they were entirely cured. I have used Cuticura for other members of my family and it always proved successful. I recommend it to any one with eczema. After once using it you will never use anything else. Mrs. M. E. Fain, Speers Ferry, Va., Oct. 19, 1909."

BJORNSON IS DEAD

Norway's Great Scholar Passes Away After Long Illness.

Paris, April 27.—Bjornstjerne Bjornson, the poet-novelist, known as "Norway's Uncrowned King," died after an illness of several months' duration. The cause of death was arteriosclerosis. Taken ill in the fall of 1909, his suffering gradually sapped away his vitality, great as it was, and his death was momentarily expected. He was seventy-eight years of age.

The career of this great poet and novelist is regarded as having influenced Norway more powerfully than that of his friend and associate, Ibsen. To say that Bjornson was only a poet-novelist would be a mistake. He was a newspaper editor and contributor, theatrical director and playwright, political agitator and leader all at the same time, and in bewildering alternation.

Among the writings in which he will be best remembered are: "Synnove Solbakken," "Arne," "A Happy Boy," and such plays as "The Editor," "The New System" and "The King." Two of his greatest novels are "The House of Kurts" and "In God's Ways." One of his patriotic poems, "Yes, We Love the Land that Bore Us," took such hold on the people that it became the national hymn.

FREAK STORMS COSTLY

Chicago, April 27.—From twelve west, middle west and southwest states comes the news of a well-nigh billion dollar loss as an outgrowth of the freak storms that have swept barren fields, valleys, orchards and pastures. The fruit crop in the middle west is completely ruined. Half the south's great cotton crop is devastated, according to the latest reports.

In all the parks every effort is being made by the horticulturists to save the vegetation, plants, trees, flowers and bushes. Coverings have been constructed and placed above the shrubbery.

INITIATION TORTURES TO DOOM "FRATS"

Bridgeport, Conn., April 27.—Macaroni cooked in soap and labeled "angle worms," had to be eaten, and a cocktail of vinegar, molasses, salt, pepper and the white of an egg, had to be gulped down before a girl could join the Alpha sorority in the high school here, according to testimony offered to the board of education. A score of witnesses appeared.

The girl is a wreck, witnesses testified. It will be three years before her stomach is again in normal condition.

Lorraine Clark, daughter of Fayette C. Clark, a member of the lower house of the Connecticut general assembly, was the victim. Her nerves shattered, she is now in a retreat in Vermont recruiting her health.

Miss Ethel Havens, daughter of Colonel Elmer H. Havens, a member of Governor Weeks' staff, testified as to initiation tortures. She is a member of the sorority.

In addition to the macaroni, two oysters, also put through a process of bitterness, were forced down Miss Clark's throat, Miss Havens said. "Polywogs" was the name they bore on the menu.

Herbert Smith, an expert chemist, testified that the concoctions forced upon Miss Clark were not harmful, but when asked to drink a vinegar cocktail, declined.

The board reserved decision, but it is likely that all fraternities and sororities in the public schools will have to go.

ARRESTS NIPPED CUBAN PLOT

General Estenoz and Twenty-two Others Charged With Rebellion.

Havana, April 27.—Indictments were returned against General Evaristo Estenoz, the colored leader, and twenty two others, charging them with the crime of inciting rebellion and instigating anti-white violence.

The evidence submitted indicated that extensive preparations had been made for a general uprising against the government on May 24.

Keeper Attacked by Mother Bear.

New York, April 27.—When an effort was being made to photograph a mother bear and her three cubs in their cage at the zoo, Richard P. Spicer, a keeper, went in to pose the cubs. The mother attacked Spicer. The bear set her teeth in Spicer's right arm and hung on. Several other keepers got Spicer out, but not before his arm had been badly lacerated.

Vassar Student a Suicide.

Andover, Mass., April 27.—Miss Ada Brooks, daughter of Edward Brooks, an artist of repute, shot herself at the residence of her father and died almost instantly. She was a student at Vassar college and returned home six weeks ago because of ill health.

Boys Crossing Continent on Horses.

St. Louis, Mo., April 27.—Louie and Temple Abernethy, ten and six years old, sons of John Abernethy, United States marshal at Guthrie, Okla., rode into St. Louis on their horseback trip from Frederick, Okla., across the continent to New York.

LAUD ROOSEVELT AS PEACEMAKER

Greeted by French Parliamentary Group.

PEACE EFFORTS PRAISED

Baron Constant Laude Former President's Work For Conciliation—He Watches Aviators Fly.

Paris, April 27.—At the American embassy Colonel Roosevelt received a deputation from the French parliamentary group for international arbitration, headed by former Premier Leon Bourgeois and Baron D'Estournelles De Constant. The baron, who shared last year's Nobel prize with M. Beernaert, of Belgium, expressed to the former president regret that parliament was not in session, as the group had planned a great demonstration in his honor. Nevertheless, the group, he said, desired to again show its gratitude, many times expressed, for Colonel Roosevelt's decisive interventions in favor of conciliation, justice and international peace. He continued:

"To our gratitude for the past is added our confidence in the benevolent influence that you will continue to exercise in the future. This confidence is all the greater because your conception of peace conforms with your own. Peace for you, as for us, is not peace at any price, but justice. Our propaganda is a continual fight for the right despite skeptics who are your enemies and ours. We will not stop the good fight so glorious for democracy against the abuse of force which is the negation of all morality, human dignity, liberty and civilization."

"I Am a Private Citizen."

M. Bourgeois, after saying that Colonel Roosevelt was responsible for the second peace conference at The Hague, declared that he looked forward to a third conference and counted upon Colonel Roosevelt's influence to that end. Colonel Roosevelt replied that his influence could be taken for granted and added: "But you must remember that I am now a private citizen."

"I, too, am a private citizen," remarked M. Bourgeois.

The other members of the deputation were presented by Baron De Constant to Colonel Roosevelt, who had for each a word of encouragement concerning the work in which they are engaged.

Mr. Roosevelt spent the forenoon in a visit to the Luxembourg gallery, being accompanied by Ambassadors Jusserand and Bacon.

After inspecting the paintings and sculpture, Mr. Roosevelt and M. Jusserand walked for some time in the garden of Luxembourg, the former president showing special interest in the Fontaine de Medicis by Debrosse.

President Fallieres, through Commandant Bard, the officer of his military household, presented Colonel Roosevelt with a magnificent tapestry, the design of which is a copy of Gernome's famous painting, "Love Mounted on a Hippogriff." The tapestry was made at the celebrated government factory at Beauvais and involved several years' work. It is considered one of the handsomest pieces turned out by the factory in a generation.

Colonel Roosevelt went to Issy-Les-Moulineaux, where, as the guest of the Academy of Sports, he will witness some aeroplanes flying. A dinner in his honor, followed by a reception, was given at the American embassy by Ambassador and Mrs. Bacon.

FISHED BABY OUT OF RIVER

Bundle of Clothing Containing Infant Hooked by Fisherman.

Ithaca, N. Y., April 27.—Walter Powers, a local angler, thought he would try his luck in Six Mile creek at the Meadow street bridge, and got a most unusual bite. His line drifted inshore, when suddenly he felt a heavy load on the end of it. Thinking that he had made a haul, he yanked it in. On the end of his line was a heavy bundle of underclothing, and inside was the body of a seven-months-old baby. The body was bruised and marked and dirty, but in a good state of preservation. Powers was somewhat alarmed and called the sheriff. The sheriff is looking for the mother.

MAY GET PACKERS

Governor Fort Likely to Grant Extradition Application.

Trenton, N. J., April 27.—Prosecutor Garven, of Hudson county, held a conference with Governor Fort concerning the prosecutor's application for the extradition of the beef packers indicted recently in Hudson county, and the governor said he would make up his mind whether or not he would allow the application some time this week. It is the general impression here that the governor will sign the requisition.

$12,500 For Loss of Both Eyes.

Columbus, O., April 27.—Joseph Frank, a former employee of the Horan Cement Brewing company, was given judgment for $12,500 against the company by the supreme court. He had lost both eyes and claimed that shellac with which he coated the interior of the company's vats contained wood alcohol and that his caused his blindness.

PORCH SHADES

MAKE YOUR PORCH

WHY Vudor Porch Shades Are Needed

You need Vudor Porch Shades to get the most out of your porch.

To make it a spot where you can rest or work on the hottest days, outdoors, yet free from the sun's glare and heat.

Vudor Porch Shades are very durable, and will last many seasons.

Another good feature about them is the peculiar fact that those sitting on the porch can see out, but passersby cannot see in. In other words, you have complete privacy, and can use the porch or veranda the same as an inside room, with infinitely more comfort on hot days.

Vudor Porch Shades are just the thing for "boxing in" porches or balconies that are to be used as outdoor sleeping or living apartments.

Vudor Porch Shades are made of thin, flat strips of wood of the kind that best endures outdoor exposure. These strips are closely bound together with Seine Twine, in a lockstitch weave.

They are artistically stained in soft, pleasing colors. These colors are weather proof, and will not fade or crack off.

The shades can be instantly raised, or lowered (operating on the principle of a theatre curtain) and are easily and readily put up.

Why They Are Better Than Awnings, Bamboo Screens or Canvas Drops.

Vudor Porch Shades should not be confused with ordinary porch screens—canvass curtains or bamboo shades, for instance.

Awnings and canvas curtains shut out the sun, it is true, but as they likewise completely prevent the circulation of air, the porch becomes an oven. It is like sitting in a tent with the sun beating down upon it. They also spoil the neat appearance of a porch.

Cost and Sizes

Any ordinary porch can be shaded with Vudor Shades at a cost of from $3.00 to $10.00

The regulation stock sizes are:

4 ft. wide x 7 ft. 8 in. drop.	10 ft. wide x 7 ft. 8 in. drop.

DYSPEPSIA

"Having taken your wonderful 'Cascarets' for three months and being entirely cured of stomach catarrh and dyspepsia, I think a word of praise is due to 'Cascarets' for their wonderful composition. I have taken numerous other so-called remedies but without avail, and I find that Cascarets relieve more in a day than all the others I have taken would in a year."

While the statistics of the world's supply of live stock are incomplete, the latest estimates are interesting. Sheep are the most numerous of the domestic animals, and their total number is placed at 68,000,000. In this industry Australia ranks first with 22,000,000 head, Argentina next with 17,000,000 head, and the United States third with 15,000,000 head. The world's supply of cattle is given as 430,000,000 head, and in this line British India leads with 91,000,000 head, including buffaloes and buffalo calves. The United States stands second with 70,000,000 head and Russia third with 37,000,000. In the raising of hogs the United States is far and away in the lead, being credited with 50,000,000, or more than a third of the world supply. Germany comes second with 22,000,000 head, while European Russia has about 11,000,000. The total number of horses is placed at 95,000,000 head, and the United States and European Russia rank about even with between 20,000,000 and 25,000,000 each. This country is credited with more than half of the 7,500,000 mules. Asiatic Turkey raises most asses, British India leads in goats, Asiatic Russia has most camels, while Russia leads in the number of reindeer.

Until lately pea vines, the byproduct of pea canneries, were a waste product, the handling of which involved a good deal of expense. As a result of experiments which have been conducted by the federal department of agriculture it has been found that these same vines can be made into a hay that is considered better than clover hay and is a satisfactory feed for cattle, horses and sheep, while they make an excellent ration for dairy cows. The vines may be cured best by spreading them on sod land, giving a forage crop which is worth from $5 to $5 per ton.

A Plucky Woman

Story of a Press Gang

By EDGAR FALES MOODY

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

A hundred years ago there was a Connecticut farmer named John Clough living on the shores bordering on Long Island sound. His wife Katherine dearly loved her husband, and their union was blessed with ten children.

One evening when Katherine had prepared John's supper and was waiting for him to come home and eat it a small boy with eyes a-stare came running to the house crying:

"Mistress Clough, your man's carried off!"

"What d'ye mean?" asked the frightened woman.

"Some men came along while he was a seedin' and took him by the arms and run him down to a boat. They put him in and are rowin' him out to a warship."

"Oh, my gracious, the press gang!"

She ran out of the house and on to an eminence in time to see the boat pulling for a ship at anchor bearing the British ensign from her peak.

John Clough had been pressed into the British service. Katherine was so fond of him that she could not bear the idea of waiting for him to come home after a long term of service and resolved to join him if possible. The ship remained at anchor that night, and the next morning, leaving her children in the care of her sister, Mrs. Clough cut off her hair, put on a suit of John's and, taking a boat, rowed out to the man-of-war.

There she offered herself for enlistment. She was gladly accepted without a physical examination and donned a sailor's uniform. She was soon recognized by her husband, but she gave him a look of warning, and he did not betray her.

The Britisher sailed about for some time in American waters, her captain here and there impressing a man into his service, desiring to fill up his crew, which was incomplete.

As soon as possible John and Katherine concerted to make their escape. Katherine's plan was to assist John to get away, after which she might declare her sex and get discharged.

But they both knew that so long as the ship remained on the American coast a very sharp watch would be kept on those Americans that had been impressed, so this task would not be easy of accomplishment. And if they made an attempt and failed one or both would be put in irons.

They kept a sharp watch for an opportunity, but so strict was the watch that none occurred. Finally preparations making for a voyage warned them that the ship would soon sail away and if they were to put any scheme into execution they must do so without further delay.

One day Katherine left the collar of her sailor jacket open just low enough to betray her sex. A petty officer was the first to discover the fact and reported it to the officer of the deck.

Katherine was summoned before the commander and acknowledged her deception. The officer would have put her ashore at once, but she begged to be allowed to remain, for a time at least, as cook. Her request was granted, and she was transferred to the galley. But as there was not a woman's garment of any kind aboard she must needs retain her sailor togs.

One evening when the ship was at anchor off New London John told his wife that he could swim ashore if he could only get away from the ship. But this was impossible, for marines were on watch, and any one jumping overboard would be shot. If he were not shot a boat would be lowered, and he would be captured before he had swum a hundred yards. The sailors had got wind of the intention of the captain to sail the next morning for England, and the Englishmen of the crew were much delighted at the prospect of going home.

Though the night was not dark, the Cloughs determined to make an attempt. About eight bells a great flare of light appeared in the galley, and Katherine, who had secretly collected as much inflammable stuff as she could conceal and had touched a burning brand to it, raised the cry of "Fire!"

A fire on shipboard, especially on a wooden man-of-war, where there are a magazine and more or less ammunition always ready for use, is a danger needing paramount attention. All hands were called either to the galley or to the pumps, and all hands except John Clough obeyed. He was on the forecastle at the time watching the marine nearest him. The man was too good a soldier to leave his post, but was too much interested in the fire that might cost him his life to think of anything else. John Clough scuttled to the bowsprit, got down on to the chains, dropped noiselessly into the water and swam for the shore.

The fire in the galley was soon extinguished, and unfortunately as it at first appeared for Katherine there were evidences that she had been an incendiary. Had she been a man she would have probably been hanged to the yardarm. Even had the ship been in an English port she would have been turned over to the civil authorities. As it was she was considered a fit person to get rid of and was sent ashore.

Meanwhile John had landed safely without even having been shot at. The next evening the pair met at their farm, embraced, hugged their children and enjoyed a good supper.

The jack rabbit nicely illustrates the protective coloration with which nature has provided certain animals as a partial means of protecting them from their natural enemies through a change in the color of the coat with the change of season to harmonize with the general tone coloring of their surroundings. In countries of snow-fall the jack's summer coat is of a brownish dun color which corresponds very closely to the color of the grass and brush and leaves. In winter his coat changes to pure white with the exception of the black tip of his tail though in sections where there is no snow the winter coat is not materially different from that of the summer.

For planting in northwestern states the Norway poplar gives promise of being a most valuable tree. It is a quick grower, making a diameter of from six to ten inches in eight or nine years; is hardy, does well under a great variety of conditions, possesses a smooth and straight grain and can be used for a variety of outdoor and indoor purposes and for butter workers, berry boxes, wagon and buggy boxes. The tree may be propagated by soaking the cuttings in water for a week before planting. They should be planted large end down about five inches deep and in rows 5 by 7 feet apart in mellow soil and cultivated during the first two or three years, after which the trees will shade the ground and take care of themselves.

In view of the present scarcity of corn of sufficient vitality to justify its use as seed, the farmers in the northern part of the corn belt, which was visited by the severe freeze of last October, are up against a very real proposition. If they cannot secure seed which will give them at least two-thirds of a stand they would better put in small grain in place of the corn. They will be tempted to use seed grown farther south because it will germinate, but this is almost as serious a mistake as using poor seed, for in all probability corn from such seed would not mature in time to escape the fall frosts, in which case they would fare no better. If good seed of the proper type can be secured at a cost of even $12 per bushel it would be better to use this than to use seed that will not germinate or mature a crop of sound corn.

GREAT RESULTS AND

GOOD WORK CONTINUES

Root Juice Has Proved Its Great Merit to Many.

Many people here, as elsewhere, are no longer incredulous, they are simply amazed at the results obtained from Root Juice. When the remedy was first introduced to this community and so many were being benefitted by a few doses, it was generally thought that the medicine would only give temporary relief, but as the time passed and many that were ailing are no longer complaining, but are advising their sick friends to try Root Juice, confidence in the great medicine is becoming positive. Root Juice makes so many remarkable cures by removing a few causes and giving nature a chance. It tones and heals the stomach, bowels, liver and kidneys; it creates a healthy appetite, and by its toning action on the bloodmaking and blood filtering organs, good, rich blood is made to nourish every weak part of the body. If your stomach, bowels, liver or kidneys are out of order, they will be pleased to tell you all about it at the People's drug store. Root Juice, $1 a bottle. It has proved all that is claimed for it.
